ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This work is an outcome of the support and cooperation of a lot of people. I would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge all those who assisted me in my endeavour.

First of all I owe my deepest sense of gratitude to my respected supervisor, Prof. G. Ram, Department of Sociology, Assam University, Silchar for supervising my research and for providing the direction, guidance and valuable advice to me during the entire phase of research. His concern, support, and words of encouragement have enabled me to give my best to this work. It is quite impossible for me to express his support by writing few words.

I am thankful to Prof. B.K. Behera, Head of the Department for his kind support and to all the teaching and non-teaching staff of the department, for their cooperation and support extended during the course of the work. I would like to thank all those experts who commented on the thesis at the time of my pre-submission seminar on it.

I am greatly indebted to my teacher Prof. B.N. Borthakur, retired Professor, Department of Sociology, Dibrugarh University, Assam for his moral support, guidance and encouragement to complete the work.

I acknowledge the cooperation of the library staff of Assam University, Silchar, and different government offices of Assam, received during the secondary data collection for the research work.

My sincere thanks are put on record for the people (respondents) of Chari Gaon, Randhanijan and Balijan villages for their time and invaluable cooperation during data collection without which I would not have succeeded in my work. I am specially thankful to Mr. Jatin Saikia and Mr. Dipu Dutta from Chari Gaon, Mrs. Purnima Dutta and Mr. Pranab Dutta from Randhanijan and Late Mr. Bhubon Hazarika and Mr. Shyamol Gogoi from Balijan Gaon for their support and help received during field visits to their respective village.

My deep and heartfelt appreciation is due to my parents, Mr. Dombaru Mahanta and Mrs. Kusum Mahanta and my father- in-law Mr. Nityananda Dev Goswami and mother-in-law, Mrs. Moni Goswami, who stood by me at every step and allowed me to fulfil my aspiration. My research would not have been possible without their love and support. I am specially thankful to my father Mr. Dombaru Mahanta for his constant support and cooperation that I received not only in this work but in my entire life. I also sincerely express my profound thanks to my sisters- Bornali, Jyotirmoyee and Deeptimoyee and my brothers- in-law, Mr. Makhan Mahanta, Mr. Dipak Mahanta and Mr. Shankar Goswami for their constant encouragement, inspiration and help extended to me from time to time. I also thank the rest of my family member's for all of their love and encouragement during this process.

Sincere thanks go to my friends- Piyali, Mitali, Kanchan, Hemanta, Nabin, Dipankar, Ayesha, Sujata, Joydeep, Evoni, Rhishya, Santanu, Dhruba, Chakradhari and Panmei Rongmei for their help and encouragement in completing the thesis.

I sincerely thank to my uncle-in-law, Mr. Trailokyananda Dev Goswami and his family for their love, support and best wishes for my work. I would like to pay my tribute to my uncle Late Mr. Kripakar Dowerah for his help, love and moral support. I am extremely grateful to his family for their help and inspiration.

My thanks are due to Mr. Hemanta Singha for the trouble he undertook in composing and printing the thesis.

Last but not least, the person who is beyond acknowledgement is my husband, Mr. Bhaskar Goswami without whose support, co-operation, encouragement and advice, I could not have completed my Ph. D work. He always infused to me a great confidence which made me believe that I could accomplish the goal overcoming the toughest impediments and challenges.
